

Relationships and Sexuality Education

Relationships and Sexuality Education in school offers you the opportunity to:

- Find out accurate, factual information about relationships, sex and sexuality;
- Ask questions and find help and support with anything you want to know about relationships and sexuality;
- Discuss issues of relationships, sex and sexuality with staff and students;
- Talk to a staff member you trust in confidence about any aspect of relationships, sex or sexuality. If you are at risk of being harmed in any way, staff will use our child protection policy to ensure you are kept safe;
- Find out about good sources of help, information and support beyond school;
- Find out about your personal rights and responsibilities to do with relationships, sex and sexuality;
- Make your views known about what school should provide for you in R&SEd.

Any safeguarding concern will be referred to ensure that every student has the support and protection they need.
